Week In Review For Week Ending 01/10/2016

1 GitHub:

GitHub Account was established and desktop software downloaded/installed.
Still have many issues with placing items exactly where I want/need them. Will need to read manuals to master this software.

2 Week in Review:

Try to keep pace with load but due to a injury to my right arm. Missed the Anchor Points assignement. Have been trying to catch up since and still will need about a week to do so.

3 Reflect and Connect:

In business if one gets injured and can't perform the assigned tasks one takes sick time off. During this last week I was almost out of it and even though I took days off from work, I could not use those hours. So feel like I behind but plan on catching up next week.
